

CVAUG Monitor

Cumberland Valley Apple User Group Newsletter

www.cvaug.org

January 2003

HAPPY NEW YEAR

A Word From The President

Just a quick note in this letter to say I hope you all find yourself with your loved ones full of peace and warmth.

Hope to see you at the next meeting!

The MacWorld Expo Approaches

The MacWorld Expo in San Francisco is this month (Jan 6-10) and many folks are speculating what major product announcements are on the way. Griffin Technology (<http://griffintechology.com/>) has already announced that their long awaited, PowerWave USB interface and amplifier will make its debut at the expo. This device may prove very useful to the folks who purchased a Macintosh G4 Computer in the period when Apple decided to remove the microphone port from the back of the computer. The PowerWave allows for audio recording through microphone or line level inputs via your computer's USB port. By the way the PowerWave runs in Mac OS 9.1+ or OS X, and even in many versions of Windows. All eyes are on Apple to see what new goodies they plan to announce during Steve Jobs' Keynote Address on Tuesday morning. Apple, as always, has been quite silent about their plans, so only time will tell.